miss schruers

from the first time we enter the doors of clymer central school, until we leave, each member of our class receives some assistance from eleanor. she has always been more than just a secretary, she has been a very patient and understanding person. for four years she has undertaken the task of helping our class with its many problems, understanding us and advising us.

we know there were many other enjoyable things you could have been doing, but we thank you for your time and patience.

through the dedication of this yearbook, we wish to express our deepest appreciation.

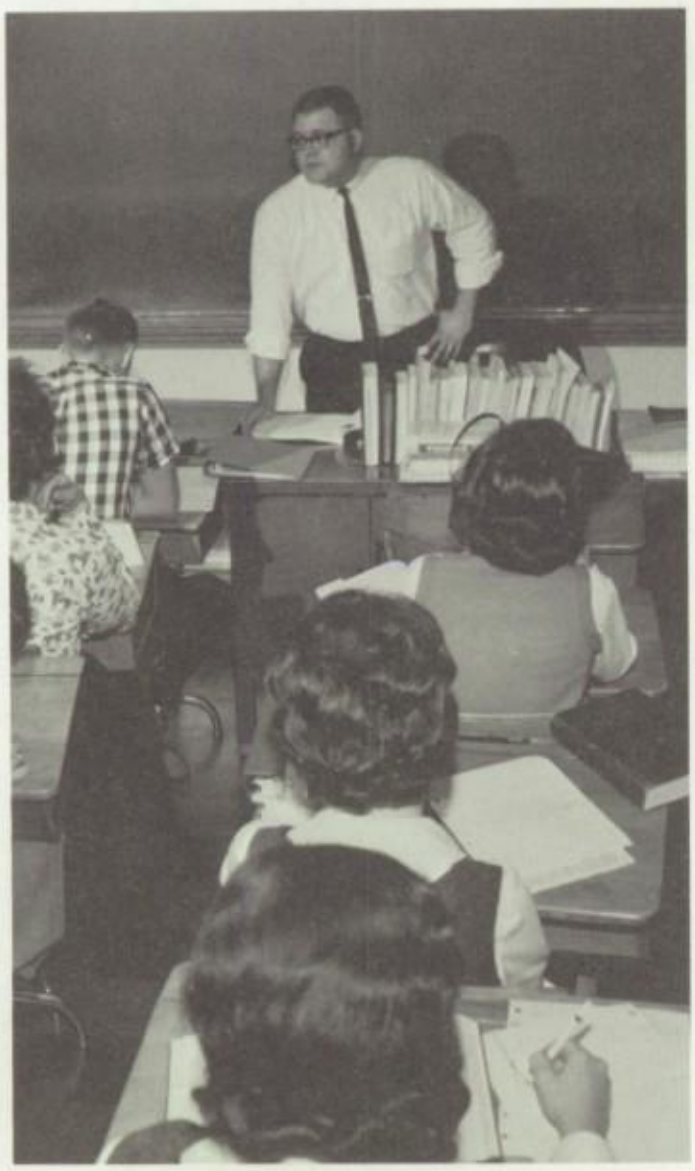
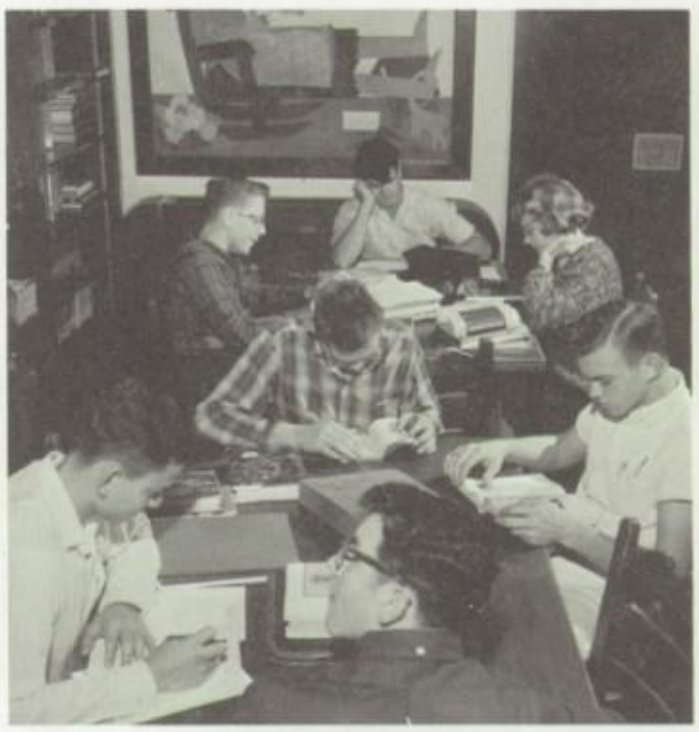
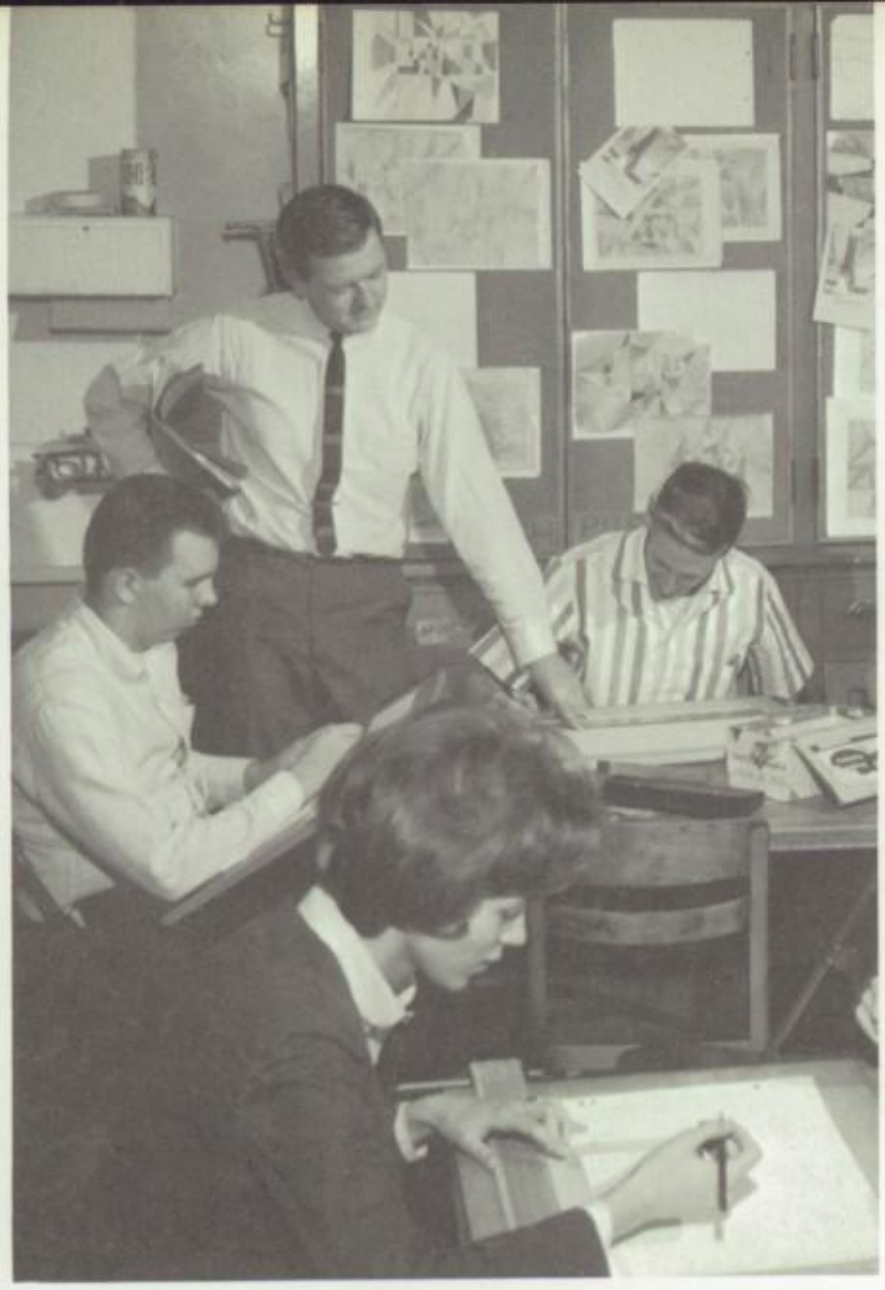
student life

the study of academic courses developes a disciplined mind, aids in the power of reasoning, increases practical knowledge and the skillful use of ideas and principles. clymer central senior high students have ample opportunities to concentrate on academic endeavors. through the use of laboratory experiments, research papers, reverence study, language arts, and audio presentations each student is able to make the best use of their time in the liberal arts field.







vocational, artistic and fitness courses provide students with experience programs to prepare for jobs. whether it's the sound of typewriter, the noise of a hammer and saw at work or merely the scratch of a pen still the process of learning continues.

a lady with blue hair, missing bonds, an old teddy-bear and some radio tubes were just some of the odd properties found in the junior's play, "the curious savage" by john patrick. on thursday and friday evenings, march 24 and 25, with two months of hard practice under the direction of mr. morgan and student director barbra breter, the play was successfully presented. as the plot of the story developed we found that ethal savage had foolishly given away the fortune her husband had left her, which her children felt they deserved. through many hysterical scenes, the bonds were stolen and retrieved to the amusement of the house.

on november 18 and 19, the seniors came forth with a brilliant production of agatha christee's play ten little indians, the cast carefully selected and directed by mr. morgan, spent much time to perfect characterization and quality of expression.

on opening night the audience was amused and sometimes frightened as each of ten people came closer to his death. suspense was built up whenever a china indian disappeared. when the murderer was finally revealed, many were shocked. with many encouraging comments going to the cast, mr. morgan and student director, barbara breter, the play was considered a success.

the tulip festival, having the theme, "time" began on friday night may fourteenth with a musical program presented by the community.

saturday dawned a beautiful, bright, sunny day for the many scheduled activities; hobby and flower show, souvenirs, a pony pull, viewing of the tulip gardens, street scrubbers in costume scrubbing the streets, klein and groat lompen dancers kicking and twisting to music, and then the big parade of floats, bands, people everywhere. the ffa takes grand prize and ripley band wins again.

the afternoon was highlighted when the new queen was crowned in the festivities. queen peggy received her crown from queen janet amid applause and cheers. the festivities concluded with music and speech.

on a bright and sunny afternoon may twenty-first, the girls at clymer central dressed in lovely gowns presented the annual may day festivities. with a trumpet fanfare and organ music in the background, twelve girls representing the freshmen, sophomore and junior classes stepped forward carrying floral decorated arches through which came the girls of the senior class. six flower girls and her majesty, queen beverly buesink.

her majesty was then presented with royal gifts; a footstool, necklace and a crown all adorned with red roses.

a maypole dance gaily presented in the queen's honor by the fourth grade girls concluded the ceremony.

in addition to the regular school activities, clubs have been organized to broaden our interests in many fields. the f.h.a. prepares girls for the tasks of a future homemaker. swim club developes the skills for a perfected swimmer. in music club an appreciation for music of all kinds is stimulated. the f.f.a. helps develope agricultural experience activities. the libranauts learn and undertake the duties of a librarian. in nurses club practical nursing skills are acquired. no matter what club it may be its members gain knowledge along with much enjoyment.

one year has passed by. a wonderful year, which has gone too fast. on one hand it seems like i came yesterday, - but i feel i have known you all my life.

i want to thank you for everything you have done to me, for helpfulness, kindness and most of all for good friendship. i especially want to thank the teachers, the afs-club and the senior class.

you have all shown me your manners and way of life, and i have tried to let you understand how it is in norway, my country.

i believe in the american field service program and believe that people can live together in peace whether they are american or european, colored or white, and you have helped me by giving me the opportunity to believe it!

now when i'm going back to norway, i feel i'm leaving my "second home-country." i'll have wonderful memories of clymer and findley lake and i home that i one day may have the chance to come back to see you all.

your friend

Congratulations to the members of the graduating class of 1966. You have accomplished the goals set for you twelve years ago when you entered school, goals to which you added other objectives as you progressed through the educational progress.

There are many people who have assisted you on your way through school, your parents, your friends and your teachers. They have guided you and encouraged you, and now they share this measure of success with you.

You are soon to accept a greater share of responsibility as you enter the adult world. Some of you will go directly to work, others will go to some type of educational institution, and some to the armed services. Whatever your next line of endeavor is, you carry with you the hopes and aspirations of your parents for success. Those people who have worked with you hope that you are prepared educationally, vocationally, morally and spiritually for your role in life. They all will be interested in your progress as you go forth to new activities.

Best wishes for continued success.

We, the Juniors, have been in high school for the past three years; and by so doing have aided the activities but have gained much ourselves. Through these many activities; such as our refreshment stand at the football games, our Halloween Smorgasbord, and the Junior Class Play, we have learned to meet the public and to realize the value of good citizenship.

Our members have actively participated in sports, cheerleading, musical productions, festivals, and by so doing have developed our outside activities and social life.

Now that we are Juniors, we begin to realize the importance of the balance of academic study and extra-curricular life. We desire to achieve scholastically, and in all other areas of school life. We anticipate our Senior year and hope we can meet the challenge it offers.

class of 1968

We, the Sophomores, have been very active this school year. Most important we have learned more about our changing world and have studied how to apply our knowledge to the problems of today. Now, at the end of 1966, we have become more able to carry on our duties as students of C.C.S. Scholastically, some Sophomores led the way by being tapped into the National Honor Society. We have become more adept businessmen by going over the top of the magazine sales and with successful projects like our Smorgasbord, Freshmen - Sophomore Basketball Game, and Pop Sales at the Tulip Festival. Our boys have learned how to be good sportsmen as well as promising athletes, participating in football, basketball, tennis, and volleyball. Our girls are contributing their best to C.C.S. through cheerleading and this spring our leading ladies were seen in total attire at the May Day festivities. In the spring we put on a play which brought out our thespians. All in all, we have been busy in and out of school. Congratulations and Best Wishes to the Class of 1966.

The Class of 1969 first entered the doors of Clymer Central in 1957. The first rung started our ascent up our ladder toward our goal, our Senior year. At the fifth rung, our classmates from Findley Lake came to join us. Then two rungs later, our class entered Junior High. We then elected our first class officers. Hence, still ascending our class ladder, we have now reached the two-thirds mark. We tried our hand at basketball and the team came one game shy of first place. We also worked scholastically to prepare ourselves for Senior High School. Then on June 24, 1965 we reached the ninth rung of our ladder.

Now as Freshmen we have been busy selling articles to earn the money for our Senior Trip. We elected our new class officers and have adopted a motto for our class. "Success is built on past mistakes." Our class hopes that when we leave this school for the last time in 1969, we will have attained a new level of success.

class officers

Much of the responsibility of directing the work of the classes falls upon the officers of each class. Elected each year by the Class they represent, each officer must fulfill his responsibility to the class and aid in leading the class through the work of the year. Much hard work and time is given by these students to further the good of all.

senior spotlight and juniors' print much time and effort goes into the editing of any publication. this is no exception at clymer central. members of the senior class work diligently to publish the annual spotlight as do the juniors to publish their juniors print. cooperation and understanding of ideas among the staff members contributes to the production of a better journal. the yearbook and the paper both aim to give you information of the 1965-66 school year and help you to remember the year and help you to remember the events and happenings of the year which you may have participated in or enjoyed.

practicing every monday and wednesday morning, the band prepares for the various programs they will present. dressed in new uniforms, bought for the first time in twenty-one years, the band performed at football games, the christmas and spring concerts and assemblies.

extraordinary enthusiasm, long hours of practice resulted in a high quality of performance. competition between members for chair positions, key performance positions, individual competition caused each member to achieve the best results he was capable of doing. a higher class of music, the desire to learn produced exceptional results for mr. nitch. the band programs were thoroughly enjoyed by all.

senior high chorus

having the largest membership ever, the chorus this year concentrated on the perfection of music through devoted practice. working on pitch, tone and quality of voice the students produced excellent music along with having much enjoyment. through the use of new techniques which enriched the meaning and aided in the development of the musical scores, mrs. rhebergen with the chorus prepared and presented many fine concerts.

enthusiasm, lots of spirit and lots of practice, but unexpected injuries played a big part this year as clymer's football pirates compiled a disheartening 0-8 record. many key players missed one or more games and had to be replaced by more inexperienced gridders, who did their best but were no match for the opponents. also a few mistakes at critical times cost the pirates several games. all-in-all, with the experience gained this year, next year's entry should be able to expect a better season.

other vine conference action saw panama retain their league championship with an 8-9 record.

basketball

with new uniforms and an eager spirit, the clymer pirates started the 1965-66 basketball season. under the direction of coach winner, mr. gottschling and mr. henry, the pirates strived to achieve success and although they did not always reach their goal, they practiced good sportsmanship and learned good basketball techniques.

members of this year's teams include:

varsity--doug deshazer, paul hansen, den heslink, dave hinsdale, tom miersma, jim cady, duane crosscut, craig neckers, curt roush, randy shampoe, larry vandershaaff.

with the coming of spring the thoughts of clymer's athletes turn to baseball. the pirates practiced hard, but finished the season with only one victory to their credit. however many of last year's regulars were underclassmen and will be back again this spring. members of this year's team include larry vanderschaff, jim humphrey, bob jaggi, jerry wiggers, david odell, curt roush, david edwards, steve boozel, randy shampoe, bob and dick kolstee, doug deshazer, denny heslink, jerry redlecki, roy faulkner, mike and darryl odell, jim cady, and chet rager.

tennis

the racket swingers under coach bradley russell ended the season with a 0-8 record. the pirates were not discouraged, however, because they were a young team and would retain all their strength the following season. members of the team include marty erickson, steve wilcox, mike baker, craig neckers, jim rothenberger, paul heslink, larry resinger, tom miersma, dave hinsdale and john holthouse. not pictured are chuck gorski and rob thieme.

an apple for the teacher, a tweet of the whistle, ready to go home and football, gym, music, art, math, english, science all make for growing up through the grades.

assembly program practice, lunch-hour recreation, seed sales, spring, fall, and winter activities all add to the childs development.

achievement tests, grade reports, honor roll, kindergarten graduation, gold stars, silver stars, no stars at all, measure the progress.
